Defeat Joseph Easily.

The second game, better played by both teams than the first, was robbed of all interest by Enterprise securing a commanding lead in the first two innings, by free hitting mixed with some untimely errors by Joseph. Blyeu had the Joseph batters guessing all through the game. The score:

WHEN TAFT COMES TO SEATTLE WORLD'S FAIR

Seattle, July 26.—When President W. H. Taft visits Seattle the latter part of September, to attend the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, it is predicted that the largest gathering ever known on the Pacific coast will congregate. Special arrangements are already under way to provide special entertainment for not only the president, but the crowd also. Three previous presidents have visited Seattle while in office: Hayes, Harrison and Roosevelt. Each visit was a memorable occasion. The records for crowds established on these visits are certain to be shattered when "Big Bill" comes, not that he is a stranger to Seattle and the Northwest, but because he is so well known and so well liked here. Many prospective visitors will put off their coming until the visit of the president, when they will "kill two birds with one stone." The President will leave the East, September 15, stopping en route for brief visits in Denver, Salt Lake and Spokane. Owing to Mrs. Taft's poor health he will not be able to make the contemplated trip to Alaska this year.

DEATH RECORD.

Luke Boothe, a pioneer settler of Union and Wallowa counties, died Thursday, July 22, at the home of his son-in-law, D. D. Brock of Alder Slope after an illness lasting several months though he had been bedfast but two weeks. Funeral services were held in Alder church, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. S. Crockett, burial was in Alder cemetery.

Mr. Boothe was born in Putnam county, Mo., Aug. 9, 1853. He came west at the age of 10 years, to Union county, and was married there to Miss Maggie Kenial, June 2, 1872. They moved to Wallowa county in 1879, settling near Joseph. Three years later they moved to Imnaha which has since been his home. Six children were born to them: One son who died in childhood in Union county, and five daughters, four of whom are living, Mrs. May Roe of Idaho, Mrs. Nora Brock and Mrs. Vena Shafer of Alder Slope, and Mrs. Florence Pratt of Imnaha. One daughter, Mrs. Ella Emmons of near Enterprise died October 26th last and is buried in the Alder cemetery. Mrs. Boothe died in 1886, and in February, 1892, he was married to Mrs. Laura Meadows of Kentucky, who with the laughter born to this union, are now residing in Kentucky.

Mr. Boothe has one brother and one sister living, Sam Boothe of Union county and Mrs. J. M. Mitchell of Joseph. He leaves also 14 grandchildren, 10 of whom were present at the funeral. The deceased was a member of the Christian church, having been baptized in the Enterprise church 13 or 14 years ago.

Card of Thanks.

To the many kind friends who gave us their sympathy and assistance during the illness and death of our father, Luke Boothe, we extend our sincere thanks.

LAWYERS DROP ARGUMENTS AND RESORT TO FISTS

A dispatch from Pendleton tells of a spectacular fist fight in the court room there Friday between Attorneys D. W. Bailey and James A. Fee. The latter well known in this city. They were opposing counsel in a will case. During an argument Fee said one of the wills had been tampered with while in the possession of Bailey, and his client and witnesses, Bailey said this was not so.

Fee said "You're a liar." Bailey said "You're a liar."

And the fight was on. Fee rushed his antagonist off his feet, forcing him into a bench, and then to the floor. He was pulled off, but, angered at some retort from Fee, Bailey hurled a heavy inkwell across the room at Fee. The missile went wild, and Fee again rushed his opponent, and with Mrs. Warner hanging onto his coat tails, and Professor W. W. Williams, of Portland, holding one arm, he was crowding Bailey into a corner, when sheriff Taylor rushed in and ended the fray, taking Fee from the room. A few minutes later the hearing was resumed.

During the progress of the rough and tumble scrap, Bailey tried in vain to secure a historic sword which was hanging on the wall.

Mrs. Warner's white waist was ruined by ink, while Fee and District Attorney G. W. Phelps were both sprinkled with writing fluid.

ALDRICH "PROTECTION"

Senator Cummins (Progressive Republican).

"The woolen schedule is manifestly wrong; and the artificial and arbitrary plan of eliminating the relation between unwashed and scoured wool is grossly absurd. The woolgrowers are sacrificed in order to give undue protection to the worsted wool manufacturer. The whole schedule is so indefensible that a readjustment seems imperative, even though to accomplish it the conference report be voted down and the bill brought before the Senate again for amendment."
